

SEMINAR SERIES BERLIN 2017/18

HUMBOLDT UNIVERSITÄT (HU)

16.10.17

Rebecca Kahn et al. (HIIG Berlin)

An introduction to Peripleo 2 - Pelagios Common's Linked Data Exploration Engine

13.11.17

Gregory Gilles (Kings College London)

Family or faction? Using Cicero's letters to map the political, social and familial relationships between senators during the Civil War of 49-45BC

11.12.17

Lieve Donnelland (University Amsterdam)

Network analysis as a tool for studying early urbanisation in Italy

22.01.18

Simona Stoyanova & Gabriel Bodard (ICS, University of London)

Cataloguing open access classics serials

19.02.18

Mateusz Fafinski (TOPOI Berlin)

A past well hidden: tracing and visualizing Roman infrastructure in medieval charters

DEUT. ARCHÄOLOG. INSTITUT (DAI)

30.10.17 KEYNOTE

Leif Scheuermann (ACDH, University Graz)

Approaches towards a genuine digital hermeneutic

27.11.17

Ainsley Hawthorn (LMU München)

Hacking Sumerian: A database approach to the analysis of ancient languages

08.01.18

Sabrina Pietrobono (Università Aquila)

GIS tool for interdisciplinary landscape studies

05.02.18

Francesco Mambrini et al. (DAI Berlin)

The iDAI.publications from open digital publishing to text mining

For HU-students

The Seminar Series is included in the academic program of the Humboldt-Universität for the winter semester 2017/18. („Ringvorlesung“, course no. 51120). Check with your institution for terms of applicability.

Venues

HU: Institutsgebäude (HV 5), Room 0319, Hausvogteiplatz 5-7, 10117 Berlin-Mitte

DAI: Wiegandhaus (Eingang über Peter-Lenne-Str.) Podbielskiallee 69-71, 14195 Berlin-Dahlem

Time

Every second Monday 17:00-19:00
Each seminar will be followed by wine and refreshments

#digiclass #de

<http://de.digitalclassicist.org/berlin/>

